ATTACKS STEPPED UP

BULLETIN
Guam, Aug. 9—(P)—Task force of 80 Superfortresses strove tonight to finish off the important oil refinery and tank storage farm at Amagasaki, near Osaka, in a concentrated attack with nearly 500 tons of demolition bombs. The big bombers struck heavily at Japan's chief refinery of aviation gasoline.

By MURLIN SPENCER
Guam, Aug. 9—(P)—The world's most destructive force, the atomic bomb, was used for the second time against Japan today, striking the important Kyushu island city of Nagasaki with observed "good results."

More than one bomb may have been dropped in this second attack and it might have been of a different size than the first one which destroyed 60 per cent of Hiroshima. The carefully worded communiqué said only that the second use of the atomic bomb had occurred, leaving to speculation all other details.

(The atomic bombing was followed by an attack by "about 100 B-29s" on Tokyo area targets, Tokyo radio reported in a broadcast recorded by the Federal Communications Commission.)

The bombers struck at Oji, Shima, Ogikubo and Tamachi, described as industrial areas, and at Senju at 4:50 p. m. Japan time, the broadcast added. It was the fourth consecutive day—if the report is confirmed—that the Marston B-29s have raided Japan with fire and explosive bombs.

The bomb was dropped at noon, Japanese time—about nine hours (Turn to Page Eleven)

BULLETINS

London, Aug. 9—(P)—The Australian radio, quoting a Doane broadcast, said the Japanese cabinet held an emergency session today to discuss the Russian declaration of war.

Chungking, Aug. 9—(P)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek wired Premier Stalin today his "sincerest admiration and most profound gratification at Russia's declaration of war against Japan, which, he said, greatly heartened the entire Chinese nation."

London, Aug. 9—(P)—Russia's entry into the war will bring the major part of the Japanese army to action for the first time and "most certainly" speed up hostilities, Adm. Lord Louis Mountbatten said today.

President Lays Down Plan To Speed Up Reconversion

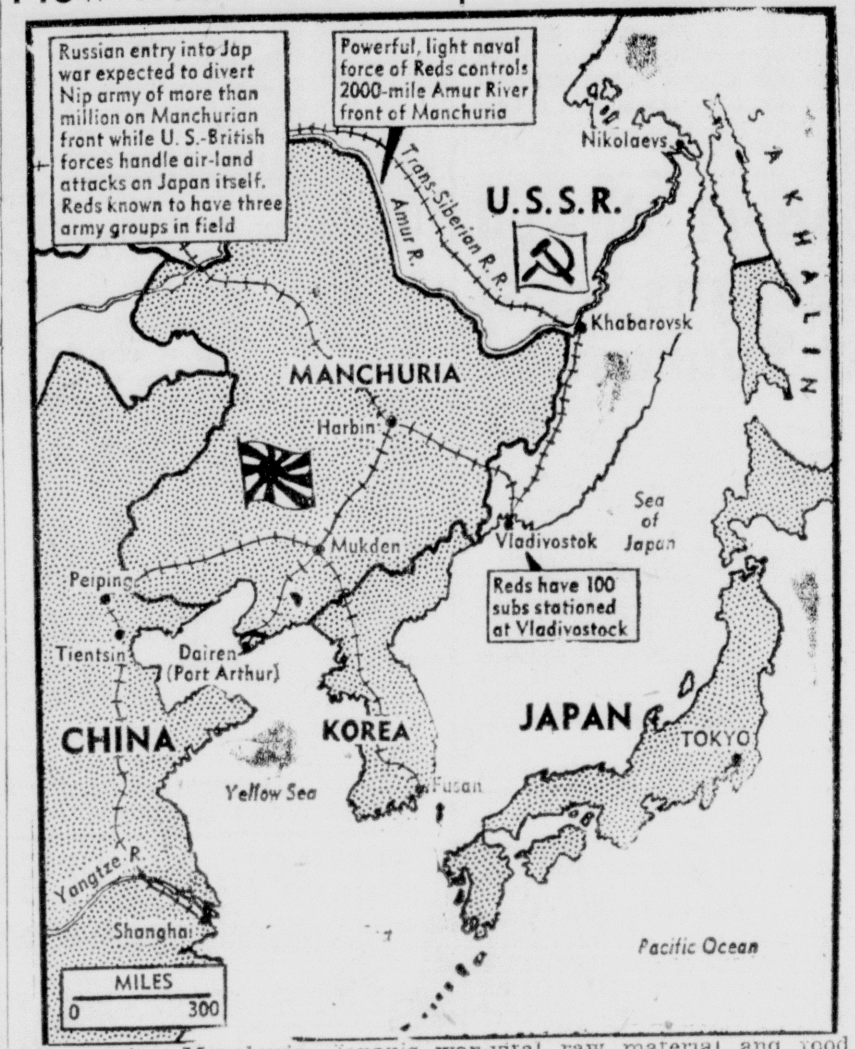

Washington, Aug. 9—(P)—President Truman today laid down a five-point plan designed to speed reconversion of industry to peacetime production and recommended the lifting of controls as soon as possible.

The president said in a letter to WPA Chief J. A. Krug that he hoped the WPA staff "will stay on the job" because their work is not yet done.

The War Production Board, Mr. Truman said, can and should "play an important role in reconversion." He asked Krug to take these steps:

1. A vigorous drive to expand

How Red Forces Squeeze Manchuria

Conquering Manchuria, Japan's war-vital raw material and food source on the Asia mainland, is envisioned as the job of Russia's powerful Siberian land forces, while the Red navy forces based at Vladivostok will likely fall the task of supplementing U. S. Navy and air power of both nations in keeping the Jap homeland isolated from Korea and Manchuria.

Territorial Implications In Decision May Be Far-Reaching

Washington, Aug. 9—(P)—Russia has gained a seat at the Pacific peace table, and her presence there may have far-reaching diplomatic and territorial implications.

By her declaration of war against Japan, the Soviet Union became a partner with the United States, Great Britain and China in settlements that will determine, among other things, which strategic islands American forces are to hold after the fighting ends.

The disposition of these islands, such as Iwo Jima and Okinawa, went unmentioned in the master plan for dismembering Japan agreed upon at Cairo in November, 1943, by President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

The assumption in diplomatic quarters here is that when the Soviets finally agreed to enter the conflict against Japan, they automatically accepted the terms of the Cairo agreement, in which they did not participate.

Diplomatic sources generally believe that the Russians were not promised any specific territory at Yalta. If that is true, they must make original claims at the Pacific conference for any areas they might desire.

Speculation is that they will want full sovereignty of the island of Sakhalin, which they now share with Japan; that they will want a warm water outlet through Manchuria, probably at Dairen, which they held on a commercial basis prior to the Russo-Japanese war; and that they may want naval bases right at Port Arthur, (Turn to Page Eleven) production of materials which are in short supply "not only because of military demands but to meet civilian demands as well."

2. A limitation on the manufacture of products which will require materials that are in short supply.
3. A broad and effective control of inventories "to avoid speculative hoarding."
4. Granting of priority assistance "to break bottlenecks which may impede the reconversion process."
5. Allocation of scarce materials for the production of low-priced items "essential to the continued success of the stabilization program."

1,200 PLANES AGAIN HOUND NIP HOMELAND

Pilots Report Many Enemy Aircraft Set Afire, Two Ships Sunk, Others Damaged

ASSAULT IS SURPRISE

By MORRIS LANDSBERG
Guam, Aug. 9—(P)—Admiral Halsey's mighty Third Fleet attacked Japan anew today with more than 1,200 carrier planes and brushed aside enemy air opposition, the first encountered since it started hounding Nippon's homeland more than a month ago.

A dispatch from Associated Press Correspondent Al Dopping, with the fleet, said the armada's anti-aircraft guns thundered as the Japanese planes appeared and that he saw two shot down. No ship reported damaged.

Returned carrier pilots, who started their attacks before dawn against northern Honshu, reported many Japanese planes set afire on the ground, two ships sunk and at least six others damaged.

The return of Admiral Halsey's massive fleet to waters off north Honshu—the same sector where it began its "red July" scourge of the enemy fleet, air force and coastal industries—came as Admiral Nimitz pledged Russia the assistance of the navy.

"The attacks are now continuing," Nimitz said, suggesting the same day-long type of raids which last month destroyed or damaged more than 1,000 enemy vessels and more than 1,200 planes.

Al Dopping, aboard a warship of the fleet, said the fliers swarmed to the attack elated by the news of the devastating effect of America's new atomic bomb and of Russia's entry into the Pacific war.

Dopping said such tactical surprise was achieved that the fleet raiders "may have caught the enemy's planes before they had time to conceal them as they have in the past by putting them in graveyards and the backyards of homes."

Yet the navy had called its shot only yesterday, warning Japan boldly in a broadcast that Halsey was moving in again after having dodged a typhoon.

Ten days after his carrier planes swept the width of southern Honshu from Tokyo to Maizuru, Halsey struck the north end to clean up Japanese shipping, air bases and other military targets. (Turn to Page Eleven)

Nip Officials Quartered In Bedford Hotel

Bedford, Aug. 9—(P)—Hiroshi Oshima, Japanese ambassador to Germany, and five male members of his staff arrived last night for detention at Bedford Springs Hotel, popular resort spot on the famous Horse Shoe Trail.

The small party, first to arrive of a number of captured Jap diplomats who are to be quarantined here, slipped into the Allegheny mountain community almost unnoticed by residents taking part in Bedford's seventieth annual fair.

Five military policemen escorted the two army cars bearing the Japs and U. S. officials.

The state department announced last month a number of Japs, diplomats, consular officials and dependents, would probably be quartered at the watering place until arrangements are made for their exchange.

A storm of protest by local residents and officers of the American Legion followed, but when it was announced at a mass meeting that treatment accorded the internees might reflect upon Allied prisoners held by the enemy, spokesmen for various groups withdrew objections.

Preparations for housing the diplomats were completed last month, when the hotel annex was readied for occupancy and guards were hired.

YOUTH DIES IN CRASH

Clayville, Aug. 9—(P)—An automobile crashed into a parked truck on Route 40 in this Washington county community yesterday, killing Junior L. Beane, 18, of Jefferson, Greene county, and injuring three others.

Tottering Empire of Nippon Encircled by the Greatest Armed Forces in All History

Washington, Aug. 9—(P)—The mightiest armed forces of all history completely encircled the seared and tottering empire of Japan today, ready to smash it into oblivion if the Japanese do not surrender within a few hours.

Russia's entry into the conflict, reuniting the powers that blotted out Nazi Germany, robs the Tokyo government of its last hope for a holdout stand on the Asiatic continent. It thus shortens the war by many months, even if the Japanese choose a fight to the death.

But from the White House to the capitol all official Washington hopes and expects that this momentous development, together with the atomic bomb campaign, will break the back of enemy resistance at once.

Use of the awful weapon reached the campaign stage today with strategic Nagasaki as its second target.

An intensified, 24-hour propaganda drive directed at the Japanese people over the heads of their leaders was opened by OWI when President Truman announced the Russian declaration at 3 p. m. Washington time, yesterday. It had the earmarks, although not the official stamp, of a 24-hour ultimatum.

Secretary of State Byrnes told a news conference: "There is still time—but little time—for the Japanese to save themselves from the destruction which threatens them."

The atomic blow against Nagasaki could have been intended as a reminder.

Tensely, Washington waited for further developments:

1. A possible Japanese peace move or word of internal turmoil in Nippon which could lead to surrender.

2. Official announcement that the Red armies along the Siberian-Manchurian border had swung into full-scale action. Enemy broadcasts said Soviet troops were attacking on the eastern Manchurian border and that Russian warplanes were in action.

President Truman's scheduled broadcast to the nation at 10 o'clock tonight will afford him an opportunity to detail his views on the war situation as well as to report on the Potsdam conference. It was there he made the final American argument for Russian entry into the war.

If the Japanese do not surrender now the war in the Pacific and Asia may go on for a year or so. But the conviction voiced on all sides here is that even so its end will come months sooner because of Soviet participation, with a consequent saving of American lives.

Mr. Truman broke the news of Russia's declaration yesterday simultaneously with the Moscow (Turn to Page Eleven)

Offer of Nazi Aid in North Africa Related

Paris, Aug. 9—(P)—A witness testified at the trial of Marshal Petain today that the old soldier resisted efforts of several Vichy ministers to ask German help in repelling the Allied landings in North Africa.

The witness, Maj. Edouard Archambault, said Petain sent two telegrams to North Africa, one ordering continued resistance, and the other ordering a cessation of hostilities.

Adm. Jean Darlan, then Petain's right hand man but soon to become a collaborator with the Allies in Algiers, sent American armistice terms to Petain on Nov. 10, recommending their acceptance.

The witness testified that as a (Turn to Page Eleven)

Scattered Raids Over North Korea

San Francisco, Aug. 9—(P)—Russian planes made "scattered raids" over northern Korea and northern Manchuria after Soviet ground forces drove into Manchuria, Japanese imperial headquarters announced today.

The communiqué said Japanese garrison forces in Manchuria (Banchukuo) had been joined by troops of the puppet regime in fighting Russians in "self-defense."

"Fighting is in progress," said the imperial headquarters communiqué issued at 5 p. m. Tokyo time (4 a. m. EDT). It reported action began "around midnight" although Japanese Kwangtung army headquarters at Hsinking had placed the start at 1 a. m.

Both communiqués were broadcast by radio Tokyo and monitored by the Federal Communications Commission.

TOKYO RADIO STATES SOVIET FORCES ARE ATTACKING ON THE BORDER OF MANCHURIA

Columns of Singing Red Army Men, Fresh From Victory Over Hitler's Germany, Tramp Through Cheering Crowds in Moscow

NO ANNOUNCEMENT FROM COMMANDERS IN EAST

By EDDY GILMORE

Moscow, Aug. 9—(AP)—The powerful Red army was thrown into the balance against the old enemy, Japan, today a second after midnight, when the Soviet declaration of war became effective.

The Soviet people awaited the first news of fighting, but neither radio nor press had carried any war dispatches from East Asia as yet.

Columns of singing Red army men, fresh from victory over Hitler's Germany, tramped through the streets of Moscow and were cheered by crowds pouring from buildings a few minutes after the news of the new war had been announced.

From all over the Soviet Union came news of factory meetings, at which speakers declared their determination to liquidate the last "den of aggression" in the world and restore peace to freedom-loving peoples.

"The punishing sword of the United Nations will put an end to war in this part of the world, too," said one of these speakers.

The government newspaper Izvestia emphasized that the Soviet government was "keeping the faith of its pledges to its allies" in order to achieve a "speedy ending" of the war.

Red Star, hailing the decision to "remove the danger which has constantly hung over the eastern borders of our country for many tens of years," said that Japan planned an attack on Russia in the grim days when the Red army had its back to the Volga.

Had Stalingrad fallen and the Germans crossed the Volga, Japan planned to join the war on Russia, believing that she was beaten and that it would then be impossible for the Allies to establish a second front in Europe, the publication said, adding:

"But the Red army scattered the plans."

So far there has been no announcement of Soviet commanders of the eastern armies, but it will be no surprise if some of the veteran commanders who turned back the Germans and routed them show up in the new theater.

(The Tokyo radio said Soviet ground forces launched a sudden attack at the eastern Soviet-Manchuria border early this morning. The broadcast, quoting a communiqué of the Japanese Kwantung army, also said a small number of Soviet aircraft bombed Manchuria, adding: (Turn to Page Eleven)

Deadlock Over Communism in China Spotlights Situation

By MORRIS J. HARRIS

(Former Chief of The Associated Press Bureau at Shanghai)
Washington, Aug. 9—(P)—Among the imponderables spotlighted by Russia's entry into the war is the question, what will become of the Chiang Kai-shek-Chinese Communist deadlock in China?

Russian influence on the impasse seems certain to assume a major role when Moscow's armies begin to move in force against Japan. Almost instantly they will come in contact with Chinese Red forces along China's northern boundaries.

The big questions stem to be: Will Moscow undertake all out cooperation with the Reds in China, to the detriment of Chiang Kai-shek and his Chungking government? Or will the Soviets, now an ally of Chungking in the war against Japan, demand that China's war efforts be heightened by Chinese Red allegiance to Chungking? Or will Stalin demand a Chinese coalition government composed of recognized Chungking and Chinese communist elements?

Washington officials today said they do not know the answers. Admittedly, however, American officialdom is hoping Russia will throw her weight behind a unified China and the end of the Chungking-Chinese civil wars which have plagued that country for nearly fifteen years.

The United States more than any other power has urged worldwide recognition of Chungking as the accepted authority in China. Should Russia choose to support the so-called Reds under the pressure of war and on into the peace, American officials note that the United States might find itself supporting one faction and Russia another.

Couple Hurt Badly In Auto Accident in Clarendon Boro

Ralph Covell, 65, and his wife, Vivian, 43, residents of Clarendon, were seriously injured about 9 o'clock last evening at the east end of Clarendon when the car in which they were riding overturned several times and was almost demolished. The couple were removed to the Warren General Hospital where they are patients.

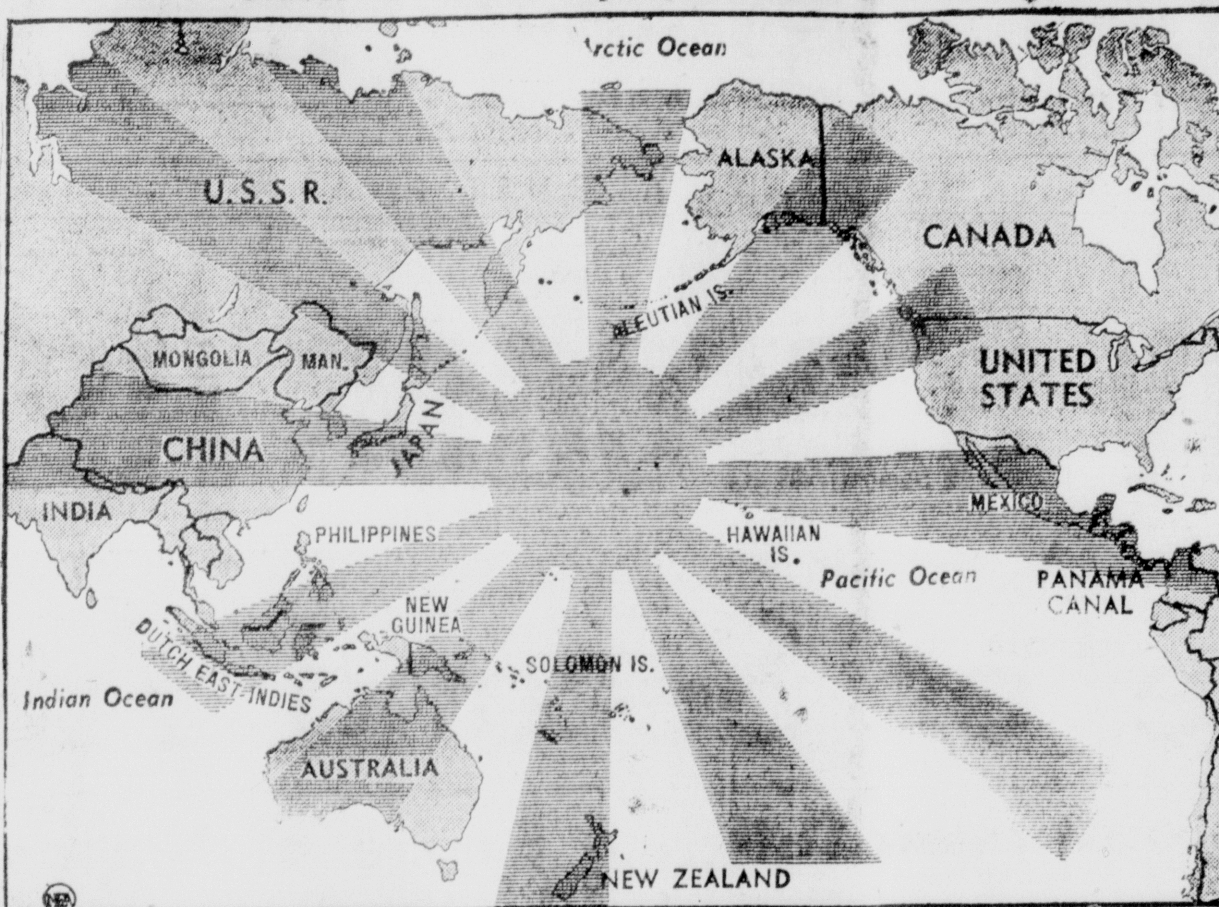

Mr. and Mrs. Covell were riding in a 1929 Ford coupe and it has not been established which one was driving. In some manner the wheels of the car left the highway on the right side and continued on the berm for some distance. It was then swung onto the roadway and off to the berm on the left and in endeavoring to get control of the car it overturned several times and landed in a ditch.

A crowd immediately collected and a call was made to Warren for ambulances and the Peterson and Lutz outfits responded. State police were also notified and P. T. Irwin and District Attorney Joseph Goldstein went to the scene as the first report stated that a fatality had taken place.

The car which was almost demolished pinned the couple down and they were removed only with some difficulty. Examination at the hospital last evening showed that Mrs. Covell sustained a fracture of the jaw in two places and her scalp was almost torn from the skull. Her body was almost covered with abrasions. Mr. Covell had abrasions on the face, chest and legs. Examination will be made today to ascertain if either of the pair sustained any fractures.

Stakes for Which Japan Gambled—and Lost

The fantastic dream of empire which became a nightmare for Japan is strikingly portrayed on the map above. Encompassed within the rays of the Rising Sun are the minimum territories for which the Japanese gambled when they struck at Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941. They blatantly declared then that their minimum price of victory would be sovereignty, with occupancy or control, over China, India, Malaya, the East Indies, Australia, New Zealand, Western South America, Central America, including the Panama Canal, most of Mexico, Western United States and Canada, Alaska and Asiatic Russia, along with all intermediate territories.

Parking Meter Purchase Still Delayed Here

Purchase of new parking meters recommended to the town council by the police committee some time ago has been delayed for the present. The meters now in use are being checked carefully and a patrolman has been assigned to that task. Under this plan the meters are not giving the trouble that they did for some time. The biggest problem is the use of dimes in the machines. These cause the slots for coins to become clogged and the machine is tied up. The checking underway prevents the meters from being tied up for any length of time.

Following the war the manufacturers of the meters will bring out some new models and have great plans for the post-war era. According to the American Municipal Association 431 cities were operating a total of 200,000 parking meters on January 1 of this year and during 1944 the meters relieved autoists of $10,000,000. The number of meters ranged from 17 in Culpepper, Va., to 3,660 in Cleveland. Cleveland took in more than $1,000 more than a quarter of a million dollars. With this kind of big money in prospect the meter companies are giving much time and money to the problem.

Robert Jewell Resigns Post At Youngsville

Robert Jewell, who for a year has been physical director and football and basketball coach at Youngsville High School, has resigned his post there to take up new duties as recreational director at the Deshon Hospital, Butler.

Jewell, following his graduation from Warren High School, attended Clarion State Teachers' College, having participated actively in sports at both schools. He then came to Warren where he taught and coached, also.

He started at Youngsville in the fall of 1944, producing one of the best football teams last season that ever emerged from the town. His basketball team also met with success.

Jewell will be in charge of building up the physical health of wounded veterans stationed at Deshon for treatment. He will aid in all types of athletics.

A successor to Jewell at Youngsville has been elected, but his name has not been released due to draft board action on the newly-elected coach's case. Whoever the new coach is will begin football practices there August 20.

Stray Leaves From Notebook Of Reporter About Town

John Bull's boys just had an election and shuffled "Good Old Winnie" into the discard. They claim it was an exciting affair but mothers let us assure you that if those Brits had been 'round here when Honest Joe Sibley and Lou Emery ran for Congress they really would have seen something.

Now Uncle Joe Sibley represented the Standard Oil Company and Uncle Lou had the Independent Oilmen in his corner. No holds were barred and for a real knock-down and drag-out affair it was some pumpkins. They do say that rolls of dough arrived via express every morning to sweeten the honest voters and that many a brother got a new suit of clothes, a new cook stove or had his home papered all due to the casting of the ballot.

The big blowout came at the close of the campaign. A parade was held at Bradford and in front of the Emery headquarters a crowd gathered and as the Rough Riders, scores of them riding horses, came up the street sky-rockets were laid in the street car tracks and touched off sizzling into the ranks of the marchers. And at Monarch Park in Oil City a picnic closed the show. Here cigars each wrapped with a five cent note were passed out and a chef from New Orleans prepared burgoose soup which was guzzled like nobody's business.

Both sides spent money like water and when the votes were counted it was found that Honest Joe had won the day likewise the seat in Congress.

It was a merry show folks and if you didn't ride one of the special trains you missed a lot of fun.

During the recent newspaper strike in New York City, people had to depend upon the radio for all their news. A survey was conducted among Gothamites at that time, asking them what they missed most when they didn't get their daily newspaper. We were surprised to find out that editorials had top position, sports news second, and then war news. Comics trailed in fifth place, probably because Mayor LaGuardia obligingly read them over the radio. "Dick Tracy" as shown in the newsreels was really something—since Abbott & Costello are reportedly breaking up, maybe the Little Flower could pinch-hit for Costello.

Lots of excitement among those in the 18-30 year age group who had been given further deferments from the armed services under special government directives and who during the past few days have discovered that their deferments have been withdrawn... looks as if Washington policy now is that those under 30, who have been kept out of the service during the past four years by one reason or another, should take their turn in the army or navy and release those who have been serving.

THE BIG SECRET

Byron Price, director of censorship, is quoted in a special dispatch from one of our correspondents in Washington, as saying the long work on the atomic bomb was the best-kept single secret of the war.

For keeping the secret he gives special praise to the newspapers, radio broadcasters, magazines, book publishers. Says Price:

"The secrecy results obtained by the newspapers and broadcasters should be sufficient answer to anyone who thinks voluntary censorship cannot work."

These groups accepted at war's start, voluntarily, a censorship code. They agreed not to publish or broadcast anything to hurt the war effort.

All censorship during the war, under Price's direction, has been on that voluntary basis. It continues that way.

The best-kept, multiplied secret of the war, Price says, involved movements of troops and transports. He says nothing on this was printed.

There were some leaks on the atomic bomb experiments, according to Price, but they were of a minor nature. He considered them not deliberate.

In 1940 the United States and Great Britain pooled their scientific knowledge useful to war. Research on the atomic bomb was begun.

Price praises the scientists—those who began the work in 1940 and those who joined them later—for maintaining silence all that time on their work.

After we entered the war, the voluntary censorship code was established. Price was appointed director of censorship by President Roosevelt.

On leave of absence from the Associated Press, where he was executive news editor, Price took over the new job.

About 20,000,000 news outlets—11,000 weekly newspapers, 2,000 dailies, and thousands of radio stations, magazines, religious organs, trade publication, college journals and book publishers—were asked:

Not to publish or broadcast about "new or secret military weapons x x x experiments."

This request was followed. It resulted in silence on a number of experiments, such as radar, and particularly about the atomic experiments, although at that time not too many people knew about that.

To speed up the atomic work, the British scientists in 1942 were transferred from Britain to this country to work with American scientists.

Then it was decided to build large plants to carry out the work the scientists were devising.

This meant hiring 125,000 plant workers, numberless contractors and sub-contractors around the country, and obtaining the help of some universities.

So in June, 1943, Price's office sent out a confidential note to its whole list of 20,000 news outlets.

So all over the country—although thousands of people wondered what was happening and some others may have guessed—the secret was kept.

JAPAN'S DAY IS ENDING

Japan's Day is rapidly drawing to a close.

Russia's entry into the war, coming on top of the advent of the atomic bomb with its awful powers of annihilation, places Nippon in a position where she must surrender quickly or suffer destruction. The Oriental mind is inscrutable to the western world, but even so one would expect the Japanese war lords to surrender forthwith if they possess even a modicum of sense.

Moscow's declaration of war represents a masterly psychological coup. First came the atomic bomb on Hiroshima, destroying that great city and, as the Japs themselves say, killing every living thing. There followed the Soviet block-buster in the form of war which today is tearing into both sides of Japan's Manchurian stronghold. And finally, we have today's successful atomic bomb attack against the great port of Nagasaki.

There's nothing for Japan to do but surrender—or commit national hara-kiri. Now that we have the facts before us, it is clear that these events are the result of careful and astute planning over a considerable period. The Big Three apparently put the finishing touches on it at Potsdam. No wonder President Truman was anxious to hurry back home and cancelled plans for a European visit.

Of course, Japan was well on the road to defeat before the atomic bomb was brought into action. It was only a question of how much time it would take to finish the job. The first demonstration of the bomb made it clear that if we used it indiscriminately, we could wipe out Japan in a very short time.

Commercial Use of Atomic Energy Not Expected Soon

BY JAMES BARLOW

Washington, Aug. 9.—(P)—Secretary of War Stimson has cold-watered the idea that there may be commercial use of atomic energy soon after this war because of discoveries connected with the atomic bomb.

He says bluntly: "It will be a matter of much further research and development to design machines for the conversion of atomic energy into useful power. How long this will take no one can predict but it will certainly be a period of many years."

But—granted that eventually atomic energy can be used for peaceful purposes—vital questions affecting mankind's future have to be answered.

Uranium is the ore essential to production of the atomic bomb. Before this war there was a lot of experimenting with uranium. And there was a lot of speculation on the future for atomic energy. Some of it went like this:

There'd be no more need for coal or oil as fuel if the atom's energy could be turned into commercial use. A small capsule of uranium, aspirin-size, subjected to atomic disintegration gives off tremendous heat. The heat makes steam. Steam drives engines.

So, that capsule would drive the Queen Mary on a round-trip Atlantic crossing, would keep an automobile or airplane running for days, would heat a man's home for a year, would keep factory wheels spinning.

But who'd control this power? A few private corporations or the government. In the hands of a few corporations, such control could be a stranglehold on America.

If the government, how would it operate the power? Like a TVA? With such atomic power would there be any need for water-power dams at all?

President Truman seems aware that atomic energy may in time replace power dams, for he said: "The fact that we can release atomic energy ushers in a new era in man's understanding of nature's forces. Atomic energy in the future may supplement the power that now comes from coal, oil and falling water."

Which brings up this question: How cheap would the power be? Cheap enough to compete at all with commercial power plants? This, too, remains to be seen.

But do we, if we can control atomic power for commercial use, give it to the rest of the world. This is not clear from Mr. Truman's words.

He says: "It has never been the habit of the scientists of this (Turn to Page Twelve)"

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Herb's Got a Great Little Wife

Everybody's talking about what a grand job Herb Heim is doing at the war plant. Not just one shift, but two a day—to help build the war materials our men need.

Good for Herb! But I'd like to say a word for Mary, Herb's wife. She runs the house, cooks the meals, takes care of the children, and works on salvage drives and bundles for the Red Cross. Believe me, that's tiring work for any woman!

Yet when Herb comes home—too tired to talk or watch where he drops his ashes, maybe—she makes allowances, keeps smiling, brings him a restful glass of beer, and makes enough conversation for them both. Next morning, Herb goes to work refreshed and cheerful.

From where I sit, women like Mary Heim are doing a great war job themselves... being tolerant and kind to husbands who are working under a heavy war-time strain. Bully for them!

Chapter 10
CARTER smiled back at her. This tallied with the story of the morning. He admired spirit, when it was on his side.

"I suppose you were justified?" "I thought I was."

"So naturally, you'd gravitate to a business with which you were familiar."

Carter seemed satisfied, but Jane wasn't sure. En route to the building she whispered to Evelyn. "I have to get a wire cast immediately. Can you manage it?"

"I can't imagine how—" "I have it. Call my detective, have his office send it in my name, and I'll slip the message to you."

A few moments later Evelyn stopped by Jane's desk and then went into the P.B.X. room, where she relieved the girl at the switchboard for a few moments. Her eyes on the room, visible through glass walls, she quoted, "Party wiring you for recommendations. If you dare tell him my family name I'll wire T.C.B. and tell what you can't afford to have known. Please help me live down my family name. J. Grey." Operator, charge this to J. Grey's number.

JANE went about her work as usual, unaware of a comedy drama taking place across the continent.

L. T. Guffery sat at his desk, two telegrams spread before him, purple and red vying for supremacy in his face and neck.

"Way, that—that little devil." "What is it, L. T.?" Johnson asked.

"Miss Grey, out there on the coast, threatening me; threatening me, after what she did to me!" "What you made her do to you," corrected Johnson.

"Look here—wire from a James Haskins, vice-president of the Sheridan Manufacturing Company. He asks for a complete history of Jane Grey—family, home life and business ability."

"What's wrong with that?" "He says here, 'Appearance and ability so superior to most applicants' question motive in accepting stenographic position.' Johnson, I'll bet that girl's up to something. Probably after his job."

"And then he began to chuckle. 'I hope she gets it. Doggone if I do.' 'What's a blank?' Now, how's this for an answer?"

"Reference to appearance Miss Grey. New York business woman noted for taste in clothes and grooming—'He's paying for this, so I'll lay it on thick. 'Family background: father dead, mother married, home life is not congenial life, so is dependent upon salary.' Johnson, why in the devil didn't I pay her more? Guess I'd better tell him about the girls she roomed with. Took me long enough to find out what happened to them." And he added that.

"Now what else?" "Business ability."

"I would forget that. All right. 'Best stenographer ever worked at Guffery Foundries. Tell her I'll double salary and pay fare east if she'll return. There, that ought to hold him."

"Now for her—" He pondered over this for some time. "Her home address is on that wire of hers, isn't it?"

JANE opened her eyes in the dingy apartment the next morning, feeling as dingy as the place. Practically everything lay in Guffery's hands. She had played him a dirty trick. Would he be big enough to overlook it? And what had awakened her?

The door buzzer.

Wrapped in a heavy robe, she hurried to the door to see the shuffling janitor there. "I signed for it," he grumbled. "Here." And he thrust an envelope in her hand.

Perched on a hard kitchen chair, she opened the first of two sheets inside and frowned. There must be some mistake. And then she gave a little cry of triumph. No, this was a copy of the answer he must have sent to Carter, who must have wired in Haskins' name as she'd reasoned he would. Guffery had merely omitted the name and address of the person to whom the telegram had been sent.

Jane rocked on the kitchen chair as she read it. Good old L. T. She couldn't have composed an answer to fit her needs half so good as this.

"Will this do and what are you up to? And what do I get out of this? Write me the whole story and I'll pay him. When are you coming home? T. C. B. knows everything. The hell I hired to take job you should have had sold out to him. Immediate answer demanded or I'll send follow-up to above copy."

Jane rushed to the telephone to send a brief wire.

"Long story, will write tonight. Salute you as Alpha-Iron."

He was pure iron, unyielding but so dependable.

Coffee ready, she looked out of the window to find a marvelous day in the dawning. The lake lay like an open Shrine Temple, the courthouse and auditorium rose through tinted mists like dream castles.

Marvelous day; marvelous world. Evelyn would move in that evening, and soon, soon—It came even sooner than Jane expected.

Chapter 11

THERE was no question but that Haskins and Carter were satisfied with Guffery's reply to their wire. Haskins came through the office to pat her hand and tell her it wouldn't be long before there would be work worthy of her ability available.

"He means Carla will be leaving," Evelyn whispered, when Jane reported to her at noon. "And that means—"

Glady's contributed her bit. She and Hazel had been told enough to keep them alert; told of Sheridan's danger.

"He's working tonight," Glady's said. "I heard him phone the club when I was on the board. The doctor is trying to keep him in bed and can't, and he calls at the club at seven, and Mr. Sheridan said to fix up some kind of a story for him."

The four girls looked at each other. "I'm the one," Jane insisted. "I'm not going to let you risk your jobs, and besides—"

"You'll be able to handle it better," Glady's agreed. "You think faster, and then, too, you can buffalo them where we can't. You have that—well, they won't dare get tough with you."

Jane went out one door that evening and returned by another. The inner portions of the women's rest room weren't the most enticing for a long wait, but the cleaning woman didn't come on duty until ten o'clock, and her cubicle had a most uncompromising garbage can one could sit upon, while nestling one's head among mop and broom handles.

TIME passed, and finally Jane heard the slow, indolent footsteps of Carla Hansen making a round of the room, looking into lockers with her master key, singing a quiet, contented little tune. And then she was gone.

Jane ventured out, relieved to find the lights extinguished, to find the door to the main office open. She could see the green-shaded light in Mark Sheridan's office, his head bent over papers on his desk. Carla was making her way toward that light.

Cautiously Jane crossed the room to let Evelyn in from the rear, then to the switchboard cubicle which opened both ways, into the main office and into Mark Sheridan's quarters. She paused in the security of the board's shadow and concentrated on the scene ahead.

Carla had paused at the door, thrust it open dramatically, swooned across toward the desk, and in swooning had touched the release of the dictaphone which waited to record her impassioned plea for justice.

Jane's shoulders shook. Mark Sheridan had sprung up from his chair as though Hirohito had suddenly accosted him. He was backing toward the wall. He looked as though he might even try to climb that wall.

"The oldest trap in the world," sighed Jane, smoothing her dress, her hair, and gathering notebook and pencils together. "but it always works. . . I'd better get in there before an outraged vice-president provides the climax."

HER entrance was nearly as dramatic as Carla's. She had to turn quickly from Sheridan. If Carla had represented Hirohito to him, she, Jane, represented the United States Marines.

"Ready for dictation, Mr. Sheridan?" she inquired. "Know you said you had to get those bids in the mail tonight. On, how do you do, Miss Hansen? I'm so sorry to hear you're leaving us."

Jane was between the dictaphone and Carla.

"Leaving, leaving!" screamed Carla.

"I distinctly heard you say you couldn't work for Mr. Sheridan any more. I know he has been trying since his injury, but—"

Haskins, unable to see Jane from the doorway, was too late. Had followed that timing set accurately. He burst into the room now with a "Why—why, what is this?" And then he stopped, too shocked for words.

"Good evening, Mr. Haskins—" began Jane.

"She—she—" managed Carla.

"Mr. Sheridan asked Miss James and myself if we would mind staying late to help him with the bids on the government field," Jane explained, her voice trained to the dictaphone. "Miss Hansen has said she couldn't cope with night work. It is unfortunate, because the way the office is being run, there is bound to be night work if the company is to continue functioning properly."

Mark Sheridan was looking at her now, but Jane didn't know exactly how he was seeing her, as a savior or some queer species of office help assuming authority.

"Well, well," said Haskins. And then, realizing Carla could be of no further use to them and that Carter had said this Jane Grey was to be watched. "I'll take you to the stretcher, Miss Hansen."

Jane took the dictaphone record from the machine. "Would you like this as a souvenir, Miss Hansen, or shall I keep it to file as your resignation?"

Slowly Carla moved forward, tried to snatch the record, then, trembling with anger, said in a low voice, "I'll get you for this."

WMC Recruits Workers For
Railroads In Western States

Never in the history of this nation have the railroads been called upon to perform such a gigantic task as that now facing them. David W. Levine, manager of the United States Employment Service at Warren, said today. In the war to date they have performed a "transportation miracle" that proudly upholds their vaunted tradition as "The Life of the Nation," he declared, but now western roads, desperately in need of 65,000 additional workers, must secure them immediately if a grave bottleneck definitely crippling to the war effort against Japan is to be averted.

"When we realize the tremendous scope of the task ahead for these roads, it virtually staggers the imagination," Mr. Levine said. "Locally we are recruiting new workers for western roads to help avert this bottleneck in the present critical stage of the Japanese war. Needed now are engineers, firemen, conductors, brakemen, switchmen, hostlers, train dispatchers, signalmen, baggage, express and freight handlers, cooks, porters, waiters, blacksmiths, boiler-makers, carmen, car inspectors, signal maintainers, electricians, machinists, molders, sheet metal workers, track workers and helpers and apprentices."

Cooperating in the drive to man adequately the western railroads, he said, are the Railroad Retirement Board, Army Service Forces and the War Manpower Commission.

Several vital phases in the job ahead for these roads, he pointed out, are handling an aggregate of 12,500,000 troop passenger trips on organized motor, handling of wheat and other food crops and shipment of vast quantities of equipment to the Pacific.

"Realizing the facts back of this urgent need for more workers on western railroads should make every American eager to do his part if he is qualified," said Mr. Levine. "We are pressing every effort to get the manpower necessary to shorten this war."

Train fare, he emphasized, will be paid by the railroads to the point of employment.

SYLVANIA ELECTRIC WARREN

Can Four Boys Eat Ninety-Six Pies Is the $64 Question Here

Warren coppers during the past few days have been busy with pencil and paper endeavoring to figure out the pie capacity of four lads of the Laurel street section. This was due to a raid on the piers during which 96 pies disappeared. Back in the days of the school attendance the police they learned that "the stomach is an organ holding about one pint" and this just can't be reconciled with the space that would be required to store 96 pies.

The pies were of all flavors both the fruit and the creamy kind and while they were of the accustomed dimensions that allows the pie vendors to cut about 10 slices that bring ten cents over the counter. The cops figure that the creamy sort would slip down easily and that perhaps the "organ holding about one pint" is rather elastic in small boys. The raid was made about 11 o'clock on the night of August 6th and as the boys were of the sort that should be in bed at that hour the coppers figure they must have devoured the pies at a rapid rate.

Diesel Engine Goes Through Town on NYC

People along the route of the New York Central Valley branch were given their first glimpse of Diesel locomotive yesterday. It passed through Warren on a freight during the night and was used in switching there all day Wednesday.

The trip from Dunkirk was for the purpose of determining if its use as a road locomotive on the line of Dunkirk is a 14-mile hill having a grade of 88 feet to the mile, which is real? some grade, and there was a desire to learn how the diesel would handle a train on that part of the branch. Yesterday it pulled 860 tons up the grade without apparent effort. This is about 200 tons more than is generally required of the steam equipment. (Another test will be made Friday with 900 tons).

Altogether the trial of the diesel was quite a success, but it may be winter before this type of locomotive is in use on the branch and takes the place of the local switcher.

It was explained yesterday that before a diesel can be used locally an arrangement must be made for heating it; not the cab, which is steam heated, but the mechanism. If a diesel were not heated at a terminal in winter the oil would congeal and the water would freeze. It is probable that a plan can be worked out for making a steam connection at Titusville, just as Pullman cars are heated while standing, uncoupled, at a terminal.

Superman Of Hitler Gives Up to Girls

Herr Alfred Naehrig the war prisoner who got lost in the woods while cutting wood with a group from the Prisoner Camp on Bull Hill it develops wandered far from camp. The group was engaged in cutting wood some distance from Dunkles Corners where the Salvation Army camp is located. Naehrig missed the truck back to camp and hungry and tired he wandered around in the woods for some time.

Finally he sighted the lights of the Salvation Army camp and heard singing. So he hiked for the camp and surrendered to the first group of girls that he met. Major John W. Baggs, of Pittsburgh in charge of the group at the SA camp unable to contact the prisoner camp due to lack of telephone facilities loaded the fellow into his car and took him back to the guards on Bull Hill.

And so the record reads at the prisoner camp "Bagged by Baggs."

the boys may have indulged in a little Chaplain art and tossed a few pies at each other. Of this the coppers know not.

However the explanation will probably come at 4 o'clock this afternoon when Chief of Police George Haehn will meet with the boys and their parents at the police station. All of the boys have been rounded up through some good police work and after consulting with the Police Chief the lads are expected to be more pious in the future.

Jamestown To Get Big Planes

Jamestown, Aug. 9.—Commercial airlines serving Jamestown in the postwar period will use a new type plane, according to an announcement today by Gordon B. Simpkins, traffic representative of American Airlines, Inc., who is here conferring with local businessmen on matters pertaining to air travel.

The new plane, bids for which are now being sought by the airline, will be used by virtually all short-haul and feeder lines which service localities where traffic density is relatively light and the distance between stops is comparatively short, Mr. Simpkins said.

Described as a craft flexible enough to hold up to 30 passengers with their baggage, plus 600 pounds of cargo, or 20 passengers with their baggage, plus 2,500 pounds of cargo, the ship will carry a crew of two flight officers and one cabin attendant.

Aluminum is being used more extensively in construction of auto engines. Crankcases made of this material are said to be superior to those constructed of cast iron, because heat flows through aluminum three times faster than it does through cast iron and the bearing surfaces are not so apt to become hot.

Jimmy Doolittle, back in 1931, flew over the three great North American national capitals, Ottawa, Washington and Mexico City, in a period of 12 hours.

Taylor Being Boomed as GOP Candidate For Governor

Harrisburg, Aug. 9.—State Senator M. Harvey Taylor, of Dauphin County, chairman of the Republican State Committee, is sounding out friends on the possibility of his candidacy for the Republican gubernatorial nomination next year.

The news, which trickled into Philadelphia last week from up-state sources, aroused widespread speculation among Republican politicians here.

One source pointed out that Taylor may be a "stalking horse" for the Pew-Grundy faction in the State which is anxious to block the nomination of Lieutenant Governor John C. Bell, Jr.

Bell, in speeches last year, called for a new and progressive leadership of the party in Pennsylvania and the ousting of Joseph N. Pew, Jr., and Joseph R. Grundy from their seats of control.

Political observers also disclosed that the Pew-Grundy interests may also be interested in heading off a strong boom to place Lieutenant-Colonel Jay Cooke on the ticket for Governor as a running mate for Governor Edward Martin, who is considered by many as the most logical candidate for the United States Senate.

However, the up-state sources which reported Taylor's ambition in the direction of the Governorship were emphatic in stating that the Republican State Chairman is seriously in the running at this time.

They point out that Taylor has given long service to the State, both as a legislator and as a party wheelhorse and he desires to round out his public career with a bid for the Governorship.

Bradford Church Is Scene of Wedding Of Local Interest

In a quiet ceremony taking place at 3:30 p. m. Monday in the Swedish Mission church at Bradford, Charlotte Virginia Johnson, daughter of Mrs. Jennie Johnson, Stoneham, became the bride of Hyatt N. Mead, son of E. M. Mead, Portsmouth, Va.

The Rev. Fred Jansson performed the ceremony. Palms and baskets of gladioli decorated the altar and the organist, Miss Landon, supplied the traditional wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Fred Johnson, of Bradford, was attired in a street length dress of gray crepe and wore a shoulder corsage of white gladioli. Mrs. Homer White, Clarendon, sister of the bride and matron of honor, wore a dress of blue and white crepe with corsage of yellow roses. Ellsworth Johnson, brother of the bride, served Mr. Mead as best man.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception for relatives and friends was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnson, 20 North Bennett street, Bradford. Mrs. James Manning presided at the table, which was decorated with flowers and white tapers and centered with a large wedding cake surmounted with a miniature bride and groom.

Later the newlyweds left by motor for a short honeymoon. Mrs. Mead chose a green suit for traveling. They will continue on to Portsmouth, Va., where they will make their future home. The bride is a graduate of the local high school and has been employed by the New Process Company for several years.

The Face Of The Big Three Changes

Newsfeatures
THE composite photograph at left gives an abstract picture of the Big Three as it was a short time ago. At right, with President Roosevelt dead and Prime Minister Churchill turned by the British electors, a new composite of Stalin, Truman and Attlee dramatizes the sharp change that time has wrought on national destinies.

ROOSEVELT CHURCHILL STALIN TRUMAN ATTLEE

The Big Three tentative agreement on Poland's boundaries is slightly different from those reportedly proposed by Polish leaders. Eastern boundary was set at the Yalta conference. Russia will get Koenigsberg, capital of East Prussia, and surrounding territory. Poland gets the rest of East Prussia and all of Germany east of the Oder and Neisse rivers. Poland does not get the big port of Gdansk, but does get Swinemunde, militarily important as it dominates the mouth of the Oder.

Captive German Sky Giant Lands in America

Junkers-290, above, one of the largest planes produced in Germany, lands at Patterson Field, Dayton, O., for study by the U. S. Air Service Technical Command. First of its kind to be brought to the United States, it was flown from Paris by an American crew with stops en route in the Azores and Bermuda. The JU-290, comparable to the American B-29, is a four-engine craft, with maximum speed of a little more than 240 miles per hour at 18,000 feet and will carry 90 men. It is named, appropriately, "Alles Kaputt," which means in German something like "All Through." The plane was captured near Munich three days before V-E Day.

Waiting processing and re-deployment to the U. S. and the Pacific theater, hundreds of first-line fighter planes of the 8th and 9th Air Forces are pictured parked at the huge Lockheed airport, Speke, England. None of these planes, mostly P-47s, has flown more than 100 combat hours.

General Business Summary Shows But Little Change

State College—General business in leading Pennsylvania industrial areas showed no change from May to June, according to the monthly business survey of the Pennsylvania State College.

Measured by bank debits, factory payrolls, and industrial power sales, June business also remained level with last year, although losses were reported at Pittsburgh, Erie, Sharon, and Lancaster.

After seasonal adjustment, the following series reported improvement from May to June: anthracite coal, bank debits, bituminous coal, building contracts, crude petroleum, postal receipts, and retail trade.

Declines were noted by Allegheny carloadings, employee hours in manufacturing, factory employment, factory payrolls, and industrial power sales.

Percentage gains in general business during June 1945 over June 1944 were as follows in these areas: Allentown 6, Altoona 13, Easton 8, Harrisburg 3, Johnstown 2, New Castle 8, Philadelphia 1, Chester 1, Reading 6, the anthracite region 7, Scranton 9, Wilkes-Barre 7, Williamsport 1, and York 7.

The following losses were reported: Erie 6, Lancaster 14, Pittsburgh 5, and Sharon 2. Bethlehem showed no change.

Warren's summary follows: Postal receipts were $31,972 in June, a loss of 10% from a year ago. They made a gain of 18% from May to June when a substantial drop was expected. For the year to date receipts were 22% under those of last year.

Building operations totaled $50,500 as against $1,918 last year and none in May. Operations for the year to date ran $75,750 as compared with $150,843 in 1944.

Industrial power sales advanced 3% over last year as compared with a 6% drop in the same month in 1944. From May to June, they rose 5% when a decline was expected. The six months decline was 7%.

Telephones in service numbered 5,805 on July 1, a gain of just 8 in the past 12 months. There was a net gain of 12 stations during June.

Factory employment in the Kane-Oil City area of 5 counties fell 1% under last year. From May to June it rose 1% which was about the expectation. The index using 1935-1939 as 100, stood at 75, the revised May figure. Employment for the 6 months was 2% under 1944.

Factory payrolls in this area rose 1% over June 1944. From May to June they made no change when an increase was anticipated. The index, using 1935-1939 as a base, fell 3 points to 243. The six months' increase was 2%.

Employee hours fell 3% under last year. They made no change from May to June when a decline was expected. For the year to date they fell off 2%.

What will it mean to you to end the war a month earlier? No one knows for sure, but the War Department announced that more than 6,900 American boys died in battle with the Germans during the last month of the European war. The figure might be even higher in the Pacific.

"If one boy can be saved, who would say that the effort had not been worth the result?" said a war mother recently.

Save every tin can this summer. Cut out the top and bottom and flatten. The next collection will be made in September.

Salvage Chairman W. T. Corbett of the Warren County Council of Defense, declared today that with Jap suicide bombers sinking our warships, you are reminded of the fact that each battleship contains 76 tons of tin. When an armada of 450 B-29's drop their lethal destruction on Japan, you are reminded that 25,560 pounds of tin was in the air. We are building thousands of B-29's. Where is the tin to come from? Surely not from the Malay or the Dutch East Indies or Sumatra where normally we get 90 per cent of all our tin. These areas have been in the hands of the Japs since December, 1941.

He believes the disappearing stockpile of tin is itself as dangerous to our war effort as are the suicide divers of Jap armmen. The Japs may be able to sink some of our ships after we make them, but we are unable to replace them without tin. We can make no submarines without tin, nor trucks, nor airplanes, nor electric systems, nor diesel engines. The answer is—Salvage tin cans.

Saving tin is so necessary to ending this war a little earlier that every housewife must be reminded often of her responsibilities.

NFO Routs Jamestown, 14-5; Renews Series With Indies At Russell Field at 6 P. M.

A stout relief job by Emmett Morrison and a powerful display of his available batting power led the National Forge to its sixteenth victory of the season last night at the State Hospital.

Two big innings, the seventh and eighth, when the NFO's totaled 11 markers, gave the locals a 14-5 decision over the Jamestown Malleable Iron nine and a win to Morrison, on his first relief win of the year.

The Forge racked up a grand total of sixteen hits, including three triples and two doubles. Harry Rosequist was the big man at the plate, in more ways than one. The veteran catcher lammed out two singles, a double, and a field rule triple in five trips at the plate, and caught two Jamestown runners stealing home.

"Gunny" Freeborough started off on the rubber for the locals as they moved to a 3-0 lead in the bottom half of the first frame. The Malleables came back with single tally in the third, two more in the fifth to tie it up, and one score in each of the sixth and seventh frames to cop a 5-3 lead. Freeborough did a good job in the first five innings, but tired in the sixth when he was hit for a single and a triple and had to be relieved by Morrison.

In the seventh, the Forge regained its lead by sending home four scores on three singles, a walk and an error. An even bigger inning rolled around as the locals went to bat in the last of the eighth. Two triples, two doubles, two singles and a walk were piled as pitcher Ed Faulk had to be relieved by young Roger Nelson and the victors piled up seven more runs.

From now on, all games played at the State Hospital diamond will begin at six o'clock instead of the customary 6:15, according to Joe Gardner, the hospital athletic promoter.

The Forge gets back in the saddle again this evening when they meet for the second time the Warren Independents, gametime slated for six o'clock at Russell Field.

Last night's winners hold an 11-3 decision over the "kids," but their assignment tonight will be a lot tougher than in the first gathering. The Indies' 12-7 victory over the Corry Merchants last Sunday and a change in the infield lineup has made the challengers a much more potent aggregation.

Dick Hines will do the honors for the Forge, opposing Jim Rose on the mound, and Dick Pierce and "Pikey" Wright will be the officials. All rain-check tickets handed out at the Forge-Indies game, which was rained out at Wilder Field, will be honored. Prices for adults is fifty cents and for students thirty-five cents.

NFC 2ND FLOOR NIPS 1ST AND 3RDS, 16-12

It was decided "once and for all" which team is the better at the Mills, as the 2nd Floor met the combined 1st and 3rd Floors of the company last night at the South Side diamond.

Behind the successful pitching of Ed Colt and the expert catching of "Sherry" Brown, the 2nd Floor scored a 16-12 victory over the 1st and 3rd. Batteries for the losers were Brown and Andrews.

Over 200 persons employed by the company watched the 2 teams battle it out for the full nine innings. Highlighting the game was a home run by Morelli.

So essential was the new tree for making bow-staves that early English laws made the planting of these trees compulsory.

Facing the 170 toughest clubs in the league, Detroit and Washington, at the home lot, the pale horses have knocked them out six of seven and pulled to within a half game of the third place New York Yankees. They are only 4 1/2 lengths back of the front-running Tigers.

Only the Philadelphia A's, 21 games behind, are entirely out of the American League race. It's quite possible for Chicago to be an important factor in the closing week.

Everybody figured the Sox had hit their belt and would be content to graze in their usual lower class stall. But they have managed to hover close to the first place and now threaten again.

Earl Caldwell, a 40-year-old added starter, is big reason for the Sox' rise. Although the team has won only five games, he has topped all of them at night when his breaking stuff is most effective. Last night he stopped Washington, 7-3, just when the Senators had a chance to tie for the lead.

Detroit left the door open for Washington to pull up even when they split an afternoon double-header with Boston. After Stubby Overmire had handed Dave Farnas his fifth setback in the opener, 6-2, the Red Sox scored four in the 12th to trim the Bengals, 7-4.

News that Manager Joe McCarthy will rejoin the New York Yankees in Cleveland where they were shut out, 1-0, by Al Smith who also batted in the only run off Ernie Bonham. Season's best crowd, 27,199, was on hand.

Rookie Hal Peck's third homer of the season in the 10th inning gave the Athletics a 5-4 nod over St. Louis' Tex Shirley. Peck and teammate George Kell each has four blows.

The Chicago Cubs opened an eastern tour as though they meant to clinch things in a hurry by whipping Boston twice, 5-2 and 3-2. Ray Prim spun a five-hitter in the first and Hank Wyse hung up No. 17 in a 12-inning finale.

St. Louis and Brooklyn both won but lost a half game to the Braves. The Cardinals blanked the New York Giants, 3-0, behind Lefty George Doskins and the Dodgers shut out Cincinnati, 1-0, on Dixie Walker's home run that stuck in the right field screen. Hal Gregg stopped the Reds with five safeties and the Brooks had only four off Vern Kennedy.

Pittsburgh and the Phillies took turns swapping whitewash jobs. First Preacher Roe shut the door, 4-0 with a four-hitter for the Bucs and then young Ick Mauney earned his third big league decision with a 5-0 job on the Pirates.

Pro Football Goes Forward Despite ODT

By BUS HAM
Washington, Aug. 9—(AP)—Professional football went ahead today with original training plans even though the ODT "disapproved" 13 non-championship games in September.

Elmer Layden, National League Commissioner, "feeling much better" about the situation, told a reporter that "we have to go right ahead and get the boys in shape." His attitude was that the games have "not been called off" by the Office of Defense Transportation stand.

Col. J. Monroe Johnson, ODT director, said in announcing disapproval of the non-championship games, that he would be willing to "re-examine the question" prior to the scheduled dates "in the light of the then-existing transportation situation."

Layden and other football men saw in this the possibility of playing some if not all of the non-championship games if Japan should surrender soon.

The non-title schedule of the Philadelphia Eagles "will not involve a mile of railroad travel," business manager Harry Thayer announced last night.

Thayer disclosed that the Eagles had already canceled a Sept. 28 game with the Cleveland Rams at Akron, O., to help "ease railroad travel," but he said "we will x x x play some if we have to walk to them."

"We will play the Lions in a game at Buffalo since Detroit can get there by boat," Thayer said. "We have not completed our plans, but plane and auto transportation are under consideration."

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By CHARLES DUNKLEY
(Pinch Hitting for Hugh Fullerton, Jr.)

Chicago, Aug. 9—(AP)—Make room for another load aboard the Chicago Cubs' bandwagon.

First to climb on was Jimmy Dykes, manager of Chicago's White Sox . . . Dykes isn't sure who'll win the American League pennant, but the Cubs, he thinks, are a cinch in the National League.

"They've got everything—and plenty of it," says Dykes. "Plenty of reserves, hitting power and hustle" . . . even that shrewd reporter, Deacon Will McKechnie, pilot of Cincinnati's Reds, switched to the Cubs after first picking the Cardinals.

"I've got to admit those Cubs made me change my mind," he speculated William piped. "We split our last series with the Cards, but those Cubs—brother. They do it the hard way."

Veterans with the Reds are ready to concede to the Cubs . . . "they really have it," admitted Frank McCormick, Cincinnati first baseman.

Actually the Reds can claim some credit for shoving Chicago to the top. The Cubs have beaten them, 17 games to 1, this season, while the Reds won seven out of 15 from the Cards to date.

Southworth Dissents

Billy Southworth, sharp, little manager of the defending world champion Cardinals, isn't so sure about all this hoopla concerning the galloping Cubs . . . Southworth believes the National League championship will be decided in the 12 remaining games between the Cubs and Cards . . . they meet in Chicago August 24, 25, 26 and 27 in the first six showdowns . . . "We have a chance to pull the Cubs down and we'll do our damnest," sayeth Southworth.

Chandler Sees Series

Senator A. B. Chandler, commissioner of baseball, is positive a world's series will be played despite silence of the ODT on the subject . . . the winner, he says, has been asked officially by naval secretary Forrestal to visit the fighters in the Pacific and play their all-star team.

"The navy wants the world's series winner, so that gives us something to back up in planning a world's series," Chandler explains.

"I'm sure every player would be willing to go."

The squad would travel by boat, thus eliminating flying hazard.

Write Your Own Ticket

Horse players at Chicago's Washington Park are strictly on their own in trying to figure winners since the discontinuance of the track handicapper's selections on the official program. Benjamin Lindheimer, executive director of the track, decided it wasn't logical for a track to publish its official list of what horses would win and what horses figured to be second and third . . . Particularly since

ACCUSED

I've been accused of being a "Yes Man" . . . and come to think of it—I am! That is, I like to say "Yes" when people ask for a loan. Which is only logical, after all, for the more times I say "Yes" the more loans I make. And since making Personal Loans is my full-time business, that's mighty important to me.

"Usually I can say 'Yes' in a hurry. But even when circumstances are unusual, I try to find a way to work out a deal. That's why Personal is so often able to make loans that others cannot."

"Of course—once in a while I can't find a way. That's natural. When that happens, I personally sit down with the customer in a private office and discuss the situation frankly, on a common sense basis."

Like most people, I don't believe in unnecessary borrowing . . . but when a loan is needed or to your advantage, I'll be glad to say "Yes". Anytime you need extra cash—see me, won't you? Right now, for instance. See me at Personal Finance Co., 216 Liberty St., second floor, over Lester Shoe Store. Phone 285.

letters and squawks poured in when the first choice of the handicapper finished out of the money.

STRUTHERS GIRLS WIN

The Struthers Wells girls won their first victory of the season last night, trouncing the National Forge fens, 28-7. Gertrude Joy and Tridico were the batteries for the winners, and for the losers, Shoffer did the hurling and Westfall caught.

country or the policy of this government to withhold from the world scientific knowledge. Normally, therefore, everything about the work with atomic energy would be made public.

"But under present circumstances it is not intended to divulge the technical processes of production or all the military applications, pending further examination of possible methods of protecting us and the rest of the world from the danger of sudden destruction."

The president seems to be saying there that it may be a long time before this country, Canada and Great Britain, which worked together on the bomb, will let the rest of the world know its secret.

Yet that secret gives the three powers tremendous advantage over any other nation in waging war. If the secret were shared worldwide, however, the consequences might be catastrophic. At some future time if the world's nations chose up sides and went to war, they'd have in their hands the power to destroy one another and civilization, too.

Helps to Fly ETO Veterans

Pfc. Elmer W. Hagstrom, brother of Carl E. Hagstrom, 214 North Irvine street, has been assigned to Cazes Air Base at Casablanca, with the Air Transport Command's North African Division commanded by Brig. Gen. James Stovell, it is learned in a special report just received from Casablanca.

Pfc. Hagstrom is one of the men brought down from the 8th Air Force in England to assist in the ATC's "Green Project," the movement by air each month of 40,000 veterans of the European and Mediterranean theatres back to the United States for redeployment and discharge.

The enormity of the project necessitated a large increase in ATC personnel in Africa, mostly ground crews drawn from combat air forces in England and Italy. In the redeployment of troops, the greatest air movement in history, more than 1,300 veterans per day, from five theatres of war, will shuttle through Casablanca to the United States.

Overseas 18 months, Pfc. Hagstrom entered the army in August, 1942. As a civilian, he was employed by Struthers-Wells.

Writes About Trip Overseas

Cpl. Robert W. Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Plummer Wilson, of Kellettville, has written home an interesting account of his experiences overseas. He says in part: "On the 5th of September, 1942, we left New York harbor on the Queen Mary (14,000 on board). We landed at Greenock, Scotland, on the morning of the 11th and went to Warrington, England, where we stayed until the 4th of November. We then left Liverpool on the Duchess of Richmond and, after a trip which I never want to take again, landed at Oran on the 1st of December.

"By train we went to Maison Blanc Air Field near Algiers, where we stayed for 21 months (27 December 42 to 21 September 44). We left Algiers on the 21st of September, 1944, on the SS Joseph Warren. After a seven-day trip through the Mediterranean, we landed at Naples on the 28th and have been here ever since".

Cpl. Wilson was overseas 36 months on August 5 and expects to remain there a few months longer.

He entered service April 12, 1941, has four battle stars, and has been awarded the Purple Heart with two Oak Leaf Clusters, the Bronze Star and, last June, the Silver Star. Mrs. Jarzynka has been residing at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Sam Morell, 23 Linwood street, and is the daughter of Mrs. Cora Colvin. T/Sgt. Jarzynka is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Jarzynka, 547 East 23rd street, Erie. He has one brother, Pvt. Frank Jarzynka, with the Army Air Corps, and another, E. L. Jarzynka, SF 3/c, with the navy.
